CHICAGO, Aug. 7 .- Chicago scored an easy victory over Brooklyn this afternoon. The venerable Gus. Weyhing started in to do the pitch ing, but the veteran's antiquated curves falled to puzzle the Orphans, and in the fifth inning they practically eilached their hold on the game by bunching four singles and a two-bagger. These hits, coupled with a base on balls and an error of Dahlen's gave Chicago five runs, Weyhing retired in the seventh inning and was succeeded by Howell. Dahlen and Cross fielded in superb form, but the game yielded little or nothing in the way of features. Attendance, 1,000. The score:

Carrick pitched poorly and received but fair support. CINCINNATI, Aug. 6.—Breitenstein pitched in oldtime form to-day and all that Boston got off his delivery was six hits with no runs. Cuppy started in liner off Barrett's bat in the third inning. Nichols, who relieved him, was effective, except in the sixth

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 7 .- Amos Rusie left this city yesterday and a despatch from Muncie city yesterday and a despatch from Muncie says he joined his divorced wife at that place and immediately left with her to be remarried. Ever since the divorce was granted Kusie has been invoking the aid of friends to secure a reconciliation, but it was understood that Mrs. Rusie refused to consider a remarriage, except upon condition that Rusie abandon the diamond. She contends that it is his associations in baseball circles that have led to all their troubles. Rusie gave the promise and says he is going into some other business.

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN. Mrs. Bayne Actually Finishes 4,500 Miles in

"-Mrs. Emma R. Bayne finished her ride of

The state of the s

forty-five centuries at exactly 10 o'clock last night. The ride was begun on July 9 at one minute after midnight. The best previous record for thirty days of century riding was that made by John H. George of Philadelphia, who from Oct. 1 to 30, 1896, rode 39 centuries. The ride of Mrs. Bayne was remarkable not because of its value as a feat of endurance, but because she was a woman who had beaten the best records made by men. Her performance was vastly different from those of other women who have been seeking notoriety over the ball at St. Louis after three straight defeats. Valley Stream course. An explanation of the Century Road Club rules is necessary to make clear the difference. The rules stipulate that a single "century" may be made in fourteen hours, and it is underthis rule that every century run from New York city is started. The same code makes it necessary for a "double" century to be done in twenty-four hours, and for all successive centuries to be done within the limit of twelve hours for each additional century. According to this rule Mrs. Jane Lindsay rode fifteen centuries last month and finished them in 164 hours and 40 minutes. That was the best a woman ever did in the way of continuous century riding. All that Mrs. Lindsay accomplished was a namel for doing "better than any woman" Will Brown last May rode 2,000 miles in 225 hours and 6 minutes. Mrs. Lindsay's ride of 1,500 miles failed toltouch this, the supreme and actual record, even for his figures, by several hours.

Mrs. Bayne did not start for a "continue ous century" record. If she had her time limit for forty-five centuries would have been 540 hours. What she started out to do was to ride 720 hours. This is 180 hours more than would be hours. This is 180 hours more than would be permissible for a "continuous century" rice. Yet Mrs. Bayne is the first woman to break a man's record for long-distance road-riding.

When Mrs. Bayne inished she was apparently in excellent health and full of strength. Her husband was present with two bunches of flowers, and he agreed with her friends that Mrs. Bayne had probably been benefited by her ride. Mrs. Bayne needed no help to alight from her wheel and after dismounting took part in a bucolic dance at the hotel, which was having a "corn party" to celebrate the occasion. The hotel was decorated with small flags and some miniature fireworks were set off when Mrs. Bayne finished. At Hicksville yesterday afternoon, and at Free-port last night there were celebrations by the natives. She finished her 4.400 miles at 70 clock yesterday morning and went to bed. At 2:30 yesterday afternoon, when she again started out, she was as vivacious in manner as ever, and seemingly as strong. She drank a glass of claret in the presence of a reporter of The Sun before she started. During her long ride Mrs. Bayne ate chicken and beef and potntoes and bread and drank tea and coffee, iced tea with lemon juice in it during the day and black coffee, made strong, at night; the coffee was to keep her wakeful. She frequently had a sleep of six hours between her centuries. Her schedule called for a century one day and "double" the next throughout. She was behind her schedule until six days ago, and since then she made up so as to finish with two hours to spare for dancing at the "corn party." permissible for a "continuous century" ride.

On Aug. 6 A. C. Batchelder, chairman of the Nationai Cycling Association Board of Control, told a reporter for The Sun that all the relationships of Jay Eaton with the Vallsburg track had been severed, and that pending the unavoidable difficulties of breaking a lease the meet of to-morrow night, the regular weekly Thursday night meet, had been "called off." Chairman Batchelder cited this "calling off." of a profitable meet in a manner calculated to reassure a stranger of the sincerity of himself and all others. Last night there was received at the office of The Sun tickets of admission for a race meet at the Vallsburg board track on July 12. The tickets stated that Jay Eaton was lessee and Fred Voight manager.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 7.—Frank Starbuck of Philadelphia received injuries to-night while riding in a motor cycle race at the Coliseum which will cripple him for life if they do not result fatally. With W. J. Wilkinson he was riding in a race against Charles Miller and Joseph Judge. The latter team had gained a lap and had the inside track. Judge was so near Starbuck that his pedal touched Starbuck that his pedal touched Starbuck's front wheel. The latter lost his head, steered wild and his machine, traveled the series of competitions for the Governor's cup and was won by W. C. Ferguson. The summary:

W. C. Ferguson, 88. 18-71; L. B. Franklin, 91, 15 head, steered wild and his machine, travelling at lightning speed, dashed over the bowl and in among the spectators. Starbuck was hurled against a post with terrific force. The bones in one of his legs were driven through the muscles and he was otherwise injured. Wilkinson went headforemost over the heads of the spectators and had an arm broken.

"Major" Taylor, the dusky whirlwind, has reached a point where, like Terry McGovern, he is in a class by himself with no one eligible to give him battle. Taylor started out this year with a desire to meet all the best riders in match races and with the determination of beating all the cracks. He raced Eaton and defeated him, and next beat Frank Kramer handly. Now not one of the men want to race him except with a guarantee for the loser. It has not been as common a practice in cycling for the loser to get a part of the purse as it has been in fighting, and the idea of R. W. Ellingham, the manager of Taylor, has been to match his man against any one for any amount from $200 to $2,000, winner to take all. He stated this to a reporter of THE SUN yesterday, and furthermore, he said that he had tried to make matches with Cooper, Stevens and McFarland before they sailed for Europe, but they, like Kiser and Kramer, with whom he also tried to arrange a contest, wanted a $200 guarantee for the loser. In consequence of all the crack white riders thus practically acknowledging that Taylor is the fastest rider on the track, which is the opinion of most good judges, he finds himself at a loss for matches. According to Ellingham, Taylor is likely to follow pace before long.

ing to Ellingham, Taylor is likely to follow pace before long.

A regular wild Western episode occurred on the Merrick road Sunday. The story was related by several persons who were principals in it. There were eight riders, two of them on a tandem and the others following it at a scorching clip toward the city. The road is very heavy in the middle, but the wheelmen have worn a fair path on each edge. Three of the party going west were on the proper side of the road and the other three, behind the tandem were riding on what was to them the left hand side of the road. They approached a solitary wheelman, who was clad in a blue sweater, long trousers tied at the bottom with string and a hat of the "rough rider" type. The tandem riders and their fellows admit that they did not turn out into the heavy part of the road, as they should have done because they were on the wrong side, but kept straight on at a stiff pace, expecting that the lone rider would be overawed by the size of the party and would turn out into the gully and afford the scorchers a laugh. This is a common trick with selfish-minded scorchers, but this individual was not of the kind to be bullied. When the tandem was within 100 feet of him he sat up, took both hands from the bars and called: "Turn out there, you, or I'll drop the lot of you." He accompanied the words by the production of a revolver from somewhere with true cowboy quicknews. The tandem and the others turned out and the man with the gun went on. Some of those in the party of eight declared that it was all a bluff and were in favor of turning and giving pursuit, but those who had looked into the muzzle of the revolver decided it would be better to go on. There were various opinions concerning whether the lone wheelman was really as desperate a character as he pretended. The prevailing opinion was that he was a practical joker "working a big bluff," but about one point there was perfect unanimity, which was that he rode a wheel after the finished style of a cowboy on a horse. But whether CINCINNATI, Aug. 7.—Several days ago Mayor CINCINNATI, Aug. 7.—Several days ago Mayor Julius Fleischmann wagered a dinner with the Hon. Nicholas Longworth, the State Senator, that the latter could not drive a golf ball from the Grandin Road links across country to the Pillars, a distance slightly over four miles, in 150 strokes. The contest came off on Sunday morning and Mr. Longworth broke the world's record. He accomplished the feat by golfing the ball over the course in 117 strokes, doing it easily and gracefully, thereby winning the dinner. Senator Longworth had all the best of the wager. Under the terms he had only to average about forty-eight yards to each stroke to win. At 117 strokes the average distance was only sixty-one yards.

BLUE MOUNTAIN LAKE, N. Y., Aug. 7.—The Eagle Nest Country Club golf tournament was wound up to-day amid the greatest enthusiasm, hundreds of visitors from all over the Adirondacks coming for the final day's play. The chief attraction was a professional match at eighteen holes between Oscar Bunn, professional at Lake Placid, coupled with Mr. George Stevens of Lake Placid, coupled with Mr. George Stevens of Lake Placid, against Vardon. The match was more machine-like than ever, as the best the pair could do was to win one hole halve 4 and finish 12 down on the round. They were never in it and seemed to suffer from stage fright. Vardon's score by holes was: Vardon.... 3 4 4 5 4 5 5 4 4 3 4 4 5 4 3 4 5 4 -74

signalized by the running of two stake events and by an attendance of generous proportions. The heat was deliciously tempered by breezes from the ocean and the storm which threatened to spoil matters from time to time fortunately veered off in another direction. Followers of favorites reaped a healthy harvest as four first choices caught the judicial eye. It was a close fit between the prominent jockeys with Spencer having one win, two seconds and a third to his credit. Henry's efforts were rewarded by one across the board. The Keene stable enjoyed another of the picnics which Trainer James Rowe inaugurated early in the season when it came to the turn of the Brighton Junior Stakes. This event carried a guaranteed value of $10,000, but brought out a weedy-looking field owing to the presence of Commando and Olympian carrying the white and blue spots. The Keene combination was held at the prohibitive odds of 1 to 5, but the books which coupled the colts as "one horse" in the straight betting, chalked up 8 to 5 a place against Olympian. This led to a peck of trouble in which many regulars figured to their cost. Some of them played All Green to run second to the stable, but the majority plunged on Kenilworth to do the same trick. The race was not such a gallop for Commando as was anticipated and he had to hustle a bit to beat his stable mate a neck. All Green finished third, a length and a half away, and those who backed him for "place" in good faith are still waiting to cash. The other stake on the card was the Chantilly. a handicap hurdle race at one mile and a half. Hardy C., who has fallen consistently in his recent races, again ruled favorite and this time his faithful followers cashed, as he took the obstacles in his stride and won easily by more easily, and as the latter was second more easily, and as the latter was second choice, the hard-hit bookmakers are beginning to outline slates on the basis of which will fall first.

Exit put the talent on velvet by winning the opening race in a remp, but figures went wrong in the third race when Agnes D. at 4 to 1 galloped away from the favorite, Belvino. David Garrick struck his long deferred racing gait in the fourth race and polished off Knight of Rhodes in clever style and fast time. A red-hot tip on Brigade went through in the last race, as the son of Hayden Edwards, beautifully rated by Clawson, won out by a head from Silver Garter, who beat the favorite, Buffoon, by three lengths. SARATOGA, Aug. 7.-The racing at Saratoga this afternoon was of the usual Saratoga kind. The fields were light to begin with, but the owners made matters worse by scratches, which left only a few horses to go to the post. It was threatening all day, but the rain held off till after the races. The chief event was the Fleischmann Stakes for two-year-olds. The firm of C. Fleischmann's Sons won the race last year with Maribert, and they won it this year with Bonnibert. Six faced the starter, the only absentee being Rivenoak. At the opening of the betting the Schorr pair, Alard Scheck and Lady Schorr, were the avorites, with the Western crack, Garry Hermann, at 2 to 1, and Bonnibert at 31/4 to 1. At Highland Park.

DETROIT, Aug. 7.—The fight between the Highland Park and Windsor racetrack promoters is beginning to have its effect on both tracks, and to day for the first time since the meeting opened the attend, ance and betting at Windsor showed a decided failing off. Barring the excessive heat, every condition was ideal for horse racing. The sky was clear, the sun bright and hot, and scarcely a ripple of air was stirring. Large fields were present at each track, but there evidently were not enough patrons to make both successful. Summary:

WITH THE HARNESS HORSES. Programme for the Grand Circuit Meeting at

With a determination to make the New York Grand Circuit meeting at Empire City track one of the most successful and interesting of the year, Messrs. In fact horsemen in every part of the country are sending them encouraging messages every day, compliment-ing them for going to the front and keeping New York in the Grand Circuit.

The meeting is scheduled for Sept. 10 to 15. with four races on the card for each day. As all are open, turfmen will know just what they want to put in the different classes. Those who made the fight against early-closing events last winter will receive an opportunity of showing what they can do toward naming entries for late-closing classes. He showed such form in the first heat that he sold for $25 to $30 for the field and never was in trouble. The third race was regarded as a gift to The Admiral, who was a pronounced favorite. LONG ISLAND TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP. The Veteran Larned and Bob Wrenn Divide the Honors of the Day. SOUTHAMPTON, Aug. 7 .- Play was started here to-day in the Long Island lawn tennis championship tournament on the courts of the Meadow Club. Only matches in the singles were played, and the weeding-out process advanced through the preliminary and first rounds. The day was marked by several upsets. Frederick B. Alexander, the Princeton crack, was defeated by young Edwin P. Larned in a hotly contested three-set match. Richard Stevens defeated young Larned in the following round, as he was not equal to the dazzling line cutters that Stevens shot over the net. The Hardy brothers, champions of the Pacific coast, were also defeated in their matches.

The honors in the play to-day were divided by the veteran W. A. Larned and Bob Wrenn. Larned won decisive victories over Allen of Yale and Little of Princeton. The former national champion, Bob Wrenn, put out freenville Clark of Harvard and A. W. Post. The championship doubles will be started in the morning. The play will be pushed forward rapidly to make way for the English cracks who are to arrive here Friday night and play in the finals on Saturday. The score:

Turf Notes.

The victory of Hardy C, over the hurdles yesterday was a heartbreaker for those who had played him in his previous two attempts to get the course, F, E. Beard had a pair in and declared to win with Spurs, but the son of Strathmore ran only sixth while his stablemate, Sir Hubert, finished in the money.

Rare Perfume yesterday returned to his original stall. W. C. Daly secured him out of the selling race on Monday at a cost of $990 and resold him to J. Undetwood for $1,242.50. The Sage's own horse had been boosted in the same race, and he had to get even with somebody. When Hare Perfume and Alsike meet again to day some fun is anticlpated.

St. LOUIS, Aug. 7.—The Fair Grounds stewards yesterday announced their findings in the Judge Steadman case. John Duje, trainer of the horse, was ruled off the turf. R. E. Maddox one of the owners, was debarred from all privileges of the track, including admission, and the entires of the horse will be refused. The Judges aermed convinced that the horse's speed has been hereased by use of stimulants.

several bookmakers at Brighton yesterday offered the munificent odds of 2 to 1 the field against David Garrick. They found few takers as the individual odds against the "field" horses were 11 to 5 Knight of Rhodes, and 50 to 1 Star Chime. The latter struck the pixers as the casiest way to play against the favorite but as it happened, he won, and the man on the stools raked in enough "chicken feed" to cost the few bets made on the Lorillard guikes.
